

To Whom It May Concern : I personally believe that both the major satellite radio companies, XM and Sirius, are not receiving their God given First Amendment rights. To limit both companies access to the local markets would also limit my choices as a consumer. I do not live in a local market where weather and traffic information is available, but I would at least like it to at least be allowed to become available in the future.

I chose to to subscribe to satellite radio because of the variety of programming to choose from. I might also add that you will not find the same quality of programming and selection on local AM and FM stations. I strongly urge the commission to not bow to the political lobbyists of the NAB.
